Cash Boy Kidnaper Gets Chair

MIAMI, Fla., June 16—Franklin Pierce McCall, 21-year-old truck driver and minister's son, today was sentenced to death in the electric chair for the kidnaping of little Jimmy Cash.

Sentence was passed by Circuit Judge H. F. Atkinson, who yesterday afternoon found McCall guilty of kidnaping for ransom after hearing evidence in the case without a jury.

McCall had pleaded guilty to the kidnaping charge when arraigned, but had pleaded not guilty to a companion charge of murdering his tiny victim.

He took the death sentence calmly and without visible emotion.

With the formal sentencing of McCall, forces of the law set what is believed to be a record in clearing up a major kidnaping case. When sentence was passed today, it still lacked approximately 12 hours of being 19 full days since little "Skeegie," as the child was affectionately known to his parents, was snatched from his crib.

McCALL CALM

It was only six days ago that McCall confessed that he not only had collected the $10,000 ransom, but he had planned and carried out the kidnaping and had disposed of the child's body after his death.

McCall, who had showed signs of nervousness yesterday when

Appointed to Bench By Allen in 1929

Judge Field, formerly of Brockton, was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1929 by Governor Allen. He is the oldest member of the court in point of service.

Elevation of Judge Field to the chief justiceship must be confirmed by the governor's executive council after an interval of at least one week.

DELAYS APPOINTMENT

Pending confirmation of the appointment, Governor Hurley cannot, according to law, name Judge Field's successor as associate justice.

The governor said he would announce the appointment as soon as the council has acted on Justice Field's nomination.

It is expected he will name Assistant Attorney General James P. Ronan.

Judge Field was born in Springfield, Vt., 61 years ago. His father was Frederic G. Field, Springfield merchant and banker.

FRIEND OF RUGG

A graduate of Harvard law school and practicing Boston attorney, Field was appointed to the Massachusetts Supreme Court without having had previous judicial experience.

He had served as assistant attorney general of the Commonwealth under three administrations.

He was a close friend of the late Chief Justice Rugg.

Risks Life Saving Mail From Flames

His mail truck afire, Frank Enos, postal employe of Pearson road, Somerville, plunged into the flames today and risked his life to save 15 bags of registered mail.

Enos was driving over West Boston bridge when the truck burst into flame. He jumped from the seat and passed the mail bags to several pedestrians. Firemen put out the blaze. Enos was unhurt.

Haven for Jews?

Thousands Seek Asylum

The heart-rending plight of political and racial refugees in Central Europe is described in the following article by H. R. Knickerbocker, Pulitzer prize winner and foreign correspondent of International News Service, who has returned to Prague after a tour of the Czechoslovakian-Hungarian border. This article, first in a series of two, discloses the tragic story of 51 Jews, rejected by every nation to which they have appealed, whose only home today is an old barge on the Danube river.

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

PRAGUE, June 16—The great war has been avoided, they say, but one of the most evil consequences of war has already been visited upon Europe. From Spain, from Nazi Germany, from all the Central European countries which feel the threat of war, but most of all from Austria, hundreds of thousands of refugees are clamoring for asylum at the frontiers of neighboring countries.

They have become a major problem to the governments of every European land. Most of them are Jews, and the flood of them breaking against the barbed wire on every border presents a picture of misery to be exceeded nowhere outside an active war zone.

After the Nazi conquest of Austria, the fate of its Jews is becoming comparable to their fate at the hands of the Egyptians, except that this time there is no Red Sea to swallow up their enemies.

WITHOUT COUNTRY

Their plight is becoming worse because with a ruthlessness not even practised in the old Reich the Nazis are systematically driving them out of Austria and shoving them illegally by night over the borders of neighboring states, without passports, money, food or clothing.

What that means can be judged by the experience of the homeless Jews whom I have just visited on a barge in the Danube River in Hungary. The old barge is their only home. It is their nation. They are 51 jews without a country, rejected by every nation to which they have applied, and driven by force from three.

Half a dozen of them have relatives in America, chiefly in New York, and this is the first message that many of them have been able to send, for I was the first American to visit the ship of the wandering Jews. Their presence had been noted in the world press when they emerged so dramatically from Germany, but nobody until now had taken the trouble to look them up and learn what really happened to them.

FORGOTTEN BY ALL

Even the authorities in Prague believed that "the affair had been settled somehow." But there they are, forgotten by all, apparently doomed to live on a barge the rest of their lives, a lesson to all who believe in the laws of brotherly love.

Their tale was told to me by Aladar Reissner, 35, one-time hotel keeper in Kittsee, whence most of them come.

"We were a total of only 38 Jews in all the 3000 inhabitants

British Defense Loan Popular

LONDON, June 16 (AP)—The government's new national defense loan of £80,000,000 ($400,000,000) was snapped up eagerly today in its first appearance on the stock market. Dealings took place at 5 shillings above the issue price of 98 (a premium of about one-fourth per cent).

It is estimated that about 80 per cent of the loan has been taken by banks, insurance companies and industrial concerns.

The new loan bears 3 per cent interest and is redeemable in 1958 or four years earlier at the Treasury's option.

Kennedy Set For Debt Talk

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
Copyright, 1938, by International News Service

LONDON, June 16—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, bearing a personal message to President Roosevelt from Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, is on the high seas today bound for the United States.

Even as Kennedy was boarding the Queen Mary at Southampton, a projected Anglo-American trade pact was being described in the House of Commons as Britain's "best hope of building up an understanding to fortify the Democratic countries of the world against the fear of war."

Both Sir Alan Anderson, Conservative who is regarded as a Parliamentary representative of London financial opinion, and the Laborite whip, H. Bertrand Lees-Smith, attacked the Federation of British Industries for their recent manifesto opposing negotiation of a trade pact treaty with the United States. Lees-Smith declared:

"The economic factor is likely to be the determining factor in our defense. No nation is able to struggle and maintain millions of men in the field and at the same time produce the immense quantities of goods needed."

BRINGS DEBT MESSAGE

Lees-Smith said the United States is the "greatest storehouse in the world" and that America's economic support could turn the balance in favor of any side on which its sympathies lay.

Joining the opposition member in defending Chamberlain's goal of trade collaboration with the United States, Sir Alan Anderson asserted:

"An Anglo-American agreement would be the biggest thing to appease the world."

The British prime minister asked Kennedy to convey to the President his views on the Anglo-American trade negotiations, the defaulted war debts and the Palestine question.

Woe! Flood

And Famine

Stop Jap Advance

SHANGHAI, June 16 (INS)—The Yangtze river, largest in China, was reported rising dangerously today, afflicting this war-ravaged land with a new flood to add to the havoc of the Yellow river deluge.

A dispatch from Nanking this morning said Japanese pilots flying over the middle Yangtze reported the river port of Kiukiang, where an American gunboat is believed to be stationed, as flooded.

The fliers said a third of the city was under water, threatening tens of thousands of Chinese in the area with the same fate that overcame an estimated 150,000 Chinese reported drowned in the Yellow river floods in northern Honan province.

U. S. SHIP THERE

At last reports the United States gunboat Monocay and two British gunboats were stationed at Kiukiang.

The rise of the Yangtze, "mother of China's rivers," with a course 3100 miles long, threatened to halt the Japanese offensive against Hankow, just as the invaders' Lunghai railway push has been stopped by the Yellow river catastrophe.

Kiukiang is situated 135 miles east of Hankow, Generalissimo Kai-Shek's main provisional capital.

Heavy rains were believed responsible for the Yangtze's rise.

In both Yellow and Yangtze floods the spectre of widespread famine arose as an anticipated consequence.

6 JAP PLANES WRECKED

Chinese sources said an estimated 12,000 Japanese troops, which had been advancing along the Lunghai toward the junction city of Chengchow, perished in the flood.

Meanwhile, Japanese warplanes unleashed four new bombing attacks on war-scarred Canton.

3 Roosevelts Fly To Bridal

By MARJORIE McBRIDE

Three members of the Roosevelt clan were speeding Bostonwards by airplane today as the vanguard of an elite army of invited guests converged on Nahant, where John Roosevelt and Anne Lindsay Clark will be married Saturday.

John's brother, Franklin, and the latter's wife, the former Ethel duPont, were due at East Boston Airport this afternoon on a plane from Newark, N. J.

James Roosevelt, John's oldest brother, left Washington on an American Airliner due at East Boston at 7:11 o'clock tonight.

PRESIDENT IN DASH

Meantime, the President was delayed at Washington by the 75th Congress' tardiness in adjourning, and secret service men and police made final arrangements for his arrival by train at Salem and his transfer, there, to the yacht, Potomac.

It was expected the President would leave Washington tonight and be in Salem in the morning.

But the First Lady expects to leave the capital tonight, whether Congress quits or not.

Forced to change plans several times because of the delay of adjournment, Mrs. Roosevelt said she was leaving tonight in any event. Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Roosevelt will accompany her. They will be joined in New York by Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger.

The party will proceed to Framingham for breakfast at the James Roosevelt home, before continuing to Boston.

The First Lady said she was to meet her husband's mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. R. Roosevelt, Jr., at the Statler Hotel.

They will join the President on the Potomac in time to welcome members of the wedding party for supper on board.

Colonel Edward W. Starling, chief of the White House secret service, conferred with coast guard officials at Salem today, outlining final plans for convoying the Potomac, with the President aboard, from Salem to Nahant.

SCRUB COAL WHARF

Business of the day at Salem was an intensive soap-water-and-scrubbrush job on the coal wharf where the Potomac will dock.

That wharf is going to shine like a navy admiral's buttons, when Army and Navy Commander Roosevelt sees it, or Salem

THEY'RE EN ROUTE—Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., are headed for Nahant today for the Clark-Roosevelt wedding. Franklin, who'll be John's best man, and his wife, the former Ethel duPont, were center of the romance stage a year ago. Since, he's been studying law at University of Virginia.

Lehman's Son Weds Girl, 18

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP) — Peter G. Lehman, 21-year-old son of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and Peggy L. Rosenbaum, 18, will be married here late today.

The ceremony at Sherry's will be followed by a reception.

The bride-to-be, daughter of Harold Rosenbaum and the former Hulda Lashanska, concert singer, was graduated from the Brearley School here last year and attended Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N. Y. She will wear an ivory satin dress and a rose point lace veil which belonged to her grandmother.

Young Lehman, who studied at Lehigh University, prepared for college at Deerfield Academy, where he was captain of the football team and a member of the swimming team. In obtaining a marriage license June 3, he gave his address as the executive mansion, Albany, and his occupation as a clerk.

Seek Edward's Return as King

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1938)

LONDON, June 16—A formal, legal move—which the courts consider "vexatious," but which the sponsors are determined to jam through by force, if need be—was made today to restore ex-King Edward VIII to the throne of Great Britain.

Back of the action to have the abdication of Edward, now Duke of Windsor, declared null and void are the "Henchmen of Honor," headed by the militant Robert Elton.

The "Henchmen's" first step, however, was in reverse. Justice Malcolm MacNaughten of the king's bench division of the high court of justice refused to hear Elton's initial petition on the grounds that it did not appear on the regular "cause list" schedule of cases.

Elton, who appeared in court with half a dozen "Henchmen," argued that Edward's abdication was illegal on two grounds: (1) the articles of abdication were signed under duress; and (2) they were obtained from the king by the government without first procuring consent of parliament.

"I have made several moves to get my application included on the 'cause list,' but they won't let me," Elton told International News Service. "But I am determined to get a hearing.

"My application is made out against Prime Minister Chamberlain and Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, whom I call upon to defend the legality of the abdication act."

Women Guarded In U. S. Spy Probe

NEW YORK, June 16—When the special federal grand jury investigating Nazi spies reconvenes here on Monday it is expected to return 20 indictments.

Held under protective guard as material witnesses for further questioning are two women, Senta De Wanger, 26, slim, fashionably-attired brunette, and Kate Moog Busch, close friend of the fugitive Dr. Ignatz T. Griebel, now "somewhere in Germany."

Miss De Wanger is described by federal spy sleuths as the key figure in the inquiry which has brought international complications.

She had lived for two years in the Roosevelt Field hotel overlooking Roosevelt and Mitchell airdromes, made the acquaintance of scores of aviators in government service, and widened her social circle through a liquor establishment she conducted at Hempstead, L. I., it was revealed.

Correspondence turned over to federal agents indicated Miss De Wanger had made several trips between Germany and the United States and was on intimate terms with Otto Reitenschlag, former high-ranking officer in the German army, who shot himself at Long Beach in February.

According to one federal official, Miss De Wanger enjoyed the confidence of the director of German secret agents who fled the United States before the present spy inquiry began in February.

Exiled Jews In Sad Plight

of Kittsee, and there were 13 more of us in the hamlet of Parna nearby," he said.

"We had lived there for generations, all of us, my family for over 100 years. Until Hitler came we hardly knew what anti-Semitism was, for the Austrians treated us like one of them.

PULLED FROM BED

"I belonged to every club and society in town, and I know they liked me. I had the most popular hotel; everybody came to it.

"They even kept on coming after the Germans marched into Austria. The first sign of trouble came when they confiscated passports of all Jews. Then, at dawn on April 16, five German secret police came to our village.

"When they got to our house we were still in bed, myself, my wife, my 65-year-old mother and my children, 2 and 4 years old. They pulled us out of bed, drove the family with blows into the cellar and locked me in a room.

"Pretty soon a big fellow, whom I later came to know as the commander, named Anton Woelke, of Berlin, came into my room and shook a paper under my nose and shouted, 'You pig-Jew, do you confess that you made all your money by fraud and swindle?'

"So I said to him, 'No, I never defrauded or swindled anybody.'

"'You lie,' he yelled, and struck me so hard in the face I fell down.

FORCED TO SIGN

"The young man was not an Austrian, you see. He was a German, and the next thing I knew he hit me so hard on both sides of the head that I could not see. Then he hit me some more and finally I said, 'Yes, I will say it.'

"He gave me a paper to sign when I could see a little. I could read that it said 'First: I am a pig-Jew and I have accumulated all my fortune through swindle and fraud. Second: I therefore bequeath my entire fortune to German Reich. Third: Inasmuch as I have no documents or identification papers—you remember they were taken away from us—I have decided voluntarily to leave the country illegally by going across the frontier.'

"There was nothing to do but sign. You see it is not legal even in Nazi Germany to confiscate our property, so this is the way they did it, and is the way they are doing it to all the Jews in Austria, at any rate all the Jews without money or influence, and far away from where foreigners can find out. But I had money. This meant I lost everything I had worked for all my life, about $17,000."

"Some of them went out to get the other Jews, and when night came they drove us into a herd, put us in trucks and drove off, we did not know where. We were not allowed to take a penny of money, nor any clothing except what we had on. About midnight we came to the Danube and there they put us in a boat, rowed us out to a big sandbar, put us on it and rowed away.

"There was much moaning and wailing. The men wandered around trying to find where we were, while the women and children huddled together and whimpered with fright and cold. Sometime about dawn we heard voices from a boat, and we all shouted. It was Czech fishermen. The sandbank was in Czech territory. You see the Germans had waited until night to slip past the Czech guards.

"Those fishermen were good to us. They rowed us to the Czech shore and made a fire. Then the Czechs notified their officials and pretty soon along came automobiles and we were taken to the jail in Bratislava. We thought we were saved, but the worst was to come.

"That night, of the 17th, the Czech police took us from the jail and drove us in police cars to the Hungarian frontier. They walked a long time to be sure the Hungarian police were not about, then shoved us through the barbed wire, over the border and told us not to return.

"About dawn we came to the village Karlburg in Hungary, where the Hungarian police found us. They let us lie in a shack until dark, when they loaded us into a wagon, drove us back to the Czech frontier, and then exactly like the Czechs had done it, they waited until the opposite police were absent, and shoved us back into Czechoslovakia.

SHOVED OVER FRONTIER

"That was the night of the 18th, and we were lucky because we found a haystack, and slept in it a couple of hours, but when we started at daybreak to walk further into Czechoslovakia, the police caught us. They guarded us until night, when once more they took us to another place on the frontier, and shoved us back into Hungary.

"Mind you, every time we were put through the frontier we had to crawl through that terrific band of barbed wire the Czechs have put up along the entire length of the Hungarian border. This time it was Czech soldiers who caught us, immediately after we had crawled through the wire.

"They took us to the customs officials. It was always different officials. I told them to look at my children. Both of them had fever. We were all sick.

DRIVEN LIKE CATTLE

"They shoved us back into Hungary that night about midnight. We moved very often that night because the Hungarians caught us again and shoved us back into Czechoslovakia before daylight.

"We found another haystack and there to our sorrowful delight we met another group so that we were 23 in all. Some of them were worse off than we. We all decided that this time we would not move but would rather die where we were. But about seven o'clock in the morning some mounted Czech police came along and ordered us out.

"We said, 'We can't go any further.' But they rode their horses at us, so we got up and they drove us along like cattle in front of their horses, until we got to the frontier, and this was the first time that we had been taken there by daylight, so this time the Czech police found the Hungarian police facing them across the barbed wire.

"The Czech police ordered us to crawl through the wire to Hungary. The Hungarian police shook their weapons and yelled that we dare not take a step further. It looked like we were all going to die there, men, women and children, like soldiers in wartime, hanging dead in the wire."

The second instalment of this series will tell further the plight of Europe's refugees.

Nazis Deal New Death Blow to Merchant Jews

BERLIN, June 16 (INS)—The final blow to Jewish business enterprises in Nazi Germany was dealt by the Hitler regime today.

An official announcement decreed that from today onward all establishments considered by the authorities to be Jewish-owned or controlled must display a special marker.

This will, of course, serve as a red warning signal to all loyal Nazis to give the establishment no patronage whatever, inevitably resulting in a systematic, nation-wide boycott of all Jewish business.

The new decree was announced by a committee composed of Rudolph Hess, deputy Nazi party leader; Walter Funk, minister of economics, and Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior.

The same ruling also will compel Aryan business houses in Germany to "freeze out" Jews in their employ. Henceforth, any firm endowed with more than 25 per cent Jewish capital or having even one or two Jewish partners on its board of directors will be classified as Jewish.

Continuing their "clean-up" of Berlin cafes, Nazi police today took scores more of Jews to headquarters upon their failure to produce identification papers.

Agents of the Gestapo (Nazi secret police) concentrated their raids on cafes and restaurants in the Kurfurstendamm and other streets in Berlin's smart west end, taking into custody all who failed to produce the necessary papers.

Germany Spurns Debt Demands

BREMEN, Germany, June 16 (INS)—Rejecting in principle Germany's obligations to take over Austria's foreign debts, Walter Funk, Reich minister of economics, in a blistering speech today branded the economic policy of the United States as a "disturbing factor in world trade."

Funk's criticism of American economic policies was based upon Washington's war debt stand.

"No reasonable man in the world," Funk declared, "honestly believes that the war debts due to America will be paid."

He was chief speaker at a meeting here to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the Bremen Export Traders' Association, one of the oldest business organizations in the world. He took occasion to predict that eventually Germany would surpass the United States as the world's largest producer of steel.

A Fish Story With Teeth in It!

May it please the court, here's the fish saga of the month.

On the night of June 11 the trawler Venture of Boston was 60 miles off New Bedford, and William Mayo, a good fisherman, was picking his false teeth. The moon-splashed waters rolled gently and the teeth fell out and overboard.

On the night of June 11 (two bells p. m.) Mayo, with difficulty, reported his loss to Capt. Fred Surett. The captain sympathized and sought to comfort Mayo with the thought of chowder until they reached Boston.

On the afternoon of June 12 the trawler heaved in 900 pounds of codfish.

On the night of June 12, after the Venture had covered 120 miles in two days, Mayo fished with one line and brooded over false teeth. On the night of June 12 (three bells) Mayo heaved in a codfish.

With what in its stomach?

You guess.

Reported today at the Fish Pier by Mayo and Capt. Surett. Mayo was eating a steak in a lunchroom.

Hague Clashes On FBI Report

NEWARK, N. J., June 16 (AP) — Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and opposing counsel resumed their heated wrangling in the Federal court "free speech" trial today over questioning about Jersey City's absence from the list of cities whose records for crime are published by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Morris L. Ernst, of counsel for the plaintiff CIO and American Civil Liberties Union, sought to show that the records of the Hague domain were omitted by the FBI "because they were "dishonest and untrue."

The mayor, shaking his forefinger at the New York attorney and demanding to be heard, was cut off repeatedly by Ernst, who insisted on answers only to his questions. The verbal battle spread to the opposing counsel when John A. Matthews, chief attorney for Mayor Hague and fellow Jersey City, joined in the hectic argument.

CALLS THOMAS "HERO"

Judge William Clark ended the uproarous fight at least temporarily when he warned Matthews to "leave out personalities" and allowed Hague to amplify his answers.

The session, marking Hague's fourth day on the witness stand, also was interrupted by the appearance of Socialist leader Norman Thomas, who was deported from Jersey City April 30 when he attempted to speak there without a permit.

"Here comes the hero in," remarked Hague from the witness stand, when Thomas walked into the courtroom.

CLASH OVER RECORD

Ernst led up to the FBI records when he asked Hague if he did not pride himself on the record of Jersey City for absence of crime. Hague said he did.

Ernst then asked if the witness knew that Jersey City was the "only city in the United States" whose criminal records were not included in the FBI reports.

"I want to explain that," Hague declared.

"I just want to know if you know," Ernst fired back.

Routed by Rolls, Union Chief to Call New Caucus

WORCESTER, June 16—Routed in a barrage of dinner rolls, Charles W. Johnson, president of the newly-formed State Employes' Association, laid plans today for a new convention of his organization, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

The convention broke up in confusion with shouts, catcalls and a shower of biscuits hurled at the head table speakers. Attending were 141 delegates, representing about one-third of the 2700 employes in State institutions.

Throughout the meeting, the delegates were sharply divided. The first show of disagreement came over a motion for censure of the executive committee.

Delegates charged that the executive committee had "conspired" with state officials to prevent news reaching the public about discharge of employes at Waverly State Hospital.

The resolution was offered by W. E. Gay of Waverly, who charged the dismissals were because of labor activities.

When the shouting subsided, three other locals attempted to carry the organization from the A. F. of L. over to CIO. In the confusion that followed, rolls were hurled until the convention broke up.

"There was little progress made," Johnson stated. "However, I shall lay plans at once for a new convention."

Work Stressed By Morgenthau

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said today the federal government's major task is "to get our economy to function on an even keel, so that all who are able and willing to work can find outlets for their creative energies.

"Until we succeed in that task, our liberties will not be safe," he told the Temple University graduating class.

He said the government's large expenditures for public works to provide employment were "a necessary investment to maintain the physical and spiritual health of the people."

"There remains much to be done," he continued. "Millions of decent homes to be built. Slums wiped out. Transportation reorganized. The machinery of government administration improved. The excessive power of monopolies must be restricted. Our taxation system must be revised. These are only some of the tasks."

Secretary Morgenthau was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws. Cornelia Otis Skinner, actress, received the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters.

Adjourment Delayed in Congress

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—Last-minute disagreements over the spending-lending bill and an emergency appropriation measure delayed the windup of Congress again today.

Members, wearied by several false starts toward adjournment, worked doggedly to end the five and a half months' session before nightfall.

A few details of the spending-lending bill, which provides $3,753,000,000 for relief and public works, furnished the principal controversy.

Both chambers had to approve an agreement reached last night by a Senate-House committee on the distribution of $212,000,000 in farm benefits. A separate vote had to be taken on another section of the bill providing operating expenses for the rural electrification administration.

A joint committee was called together at 10 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, to adjust differences between the final appropriation bills passed by both Senate and House. The latter put $279,000,000 into the "catch-all" measure, to which the Senate added $10,000,000.

The Senate, convening at noon, had the makings of a lively debate over a proposal to investigate the use of public funds to influence elections.

Its audit committee, comprising a resolution for a separate inquiry into any complaints that the WPA is playing politics, proposed instead an investigation into the use of any federal or state money in campaigns.

3 in 'Crime Honeymoon,

Ending what police asserted was a 4000-mile "honeymoon tour of crime," two Newport, N. H., youths and the 17-year-old bride of one were jailed today at Schenectady, N. Y.

Pending investigation of their story to New York state police they were sentenced to 20 days on a vagrancy charge.

They identified themselves as Harold F. Beland, 19; his bride, Kathleen Boyle Beland, and Owen R. Forrest, Jr., 17.

Kathleen is an attractive brunette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boyle of Newport. The father is an unemployed shoe worker.

Also a shoe worker for a short time was the girl, until the factory at Newport closed down, it was learned in the town today. Before that she attended high school for a year.

Her mother said Kathleen left Newport May 30, saying she intended looking for a job in some other New Hampshire community. Since then the family had received several postcards, all mailed in New Hampshir, telling of her quest for work.

Members of the family were stunned over the news from Schenectady and said the girl never had been in trouble before and they had not known of her marriage.

HE .DED FOR MEXICO

Beland admitted, according to Corp. F. J. McDowell of the state troopers, that he escaped from the Manchester, N. H., Industrial School on January 29.

With the girl and Forrest he then started on a trip to Mexico in the battered sedan which Forrest allegedly was driving when stopped near Duanesburg, N. Y., by State Trooper Joseph Hurley.

The youthful appearance of the trio in the car aroused suspicions of the trooper, he said, and when he questioned the driver it was found that Forrest had no operator's license.

ADMIT CRIMES

Taken to state police barracks, the trio admitted, according to the officers, that they had abandoned their Mexican trip and since had been touring, financing their way by frequent burglaries from Massachusetts south to the Carolinas.

Beland and his bride produced a canceled marriage license, issued in Tennessee.

PARIS, June 16 (AP)—An alarm signal summoning guards to clear the hall sounded today in the Chamber of Deputies for the first time in a decade as Communist and Rightist deputies fought over France's policy toward the Spanish civil war.

Two Rightist deputies, Fernand Claudet and Francois Peugeot, were injured and were escorted from the Chamber with blood dripping from their faces.

McCall Given Chair in Kidnap

he told from the witness stand how he kidnaped the child and then collected the ransom, was very calm today.

He heard his doom without flinching. His face was impassive and he looked straight ahead. Afterwards, under heavy guard, he was taken to an elevator and returned to his cell.

GOVERNOR TO SET DATE

In passing sentence, Judge Atkinson ordered the prisoner transferred to the state prison at Raiford, Fla., where he will be held pending execution.

Cautioning the crowded courtroom to keep quiet, Judge Atkinson called the pastor's son to the bench.

"You plead guilty to the offense as charged of kidnaping and holding James Bailey Cash, Jr., for ransom. What have you to say for yourself?" he demanded.

McCall merely shook his head.

"I find you guilty as charged in the indictment," the judge continued, "the same being a capital offense under the laws of Florida, and I sentence you to be held until such time as you shall be delivered to the superintendent of the State Prison at Raiford, there to be held safely until a death sentence shall be carried out."

The judge, who said Governor Fred P. Cone would fix the date for the execution, specified the prisoner was to be put to death by electricity and concluded with the customary, "May God have mercy on your soul."

The earliest date at which he can be electrocuted under Florida law is the week of June 27.

Date for McCall's transfer to Raiford was not set, and it is expected the prisoner will be taken away secretly to prevent possible mob violence.

Throughout the proceedings, McCall was under constant guard to prevent an attack on the prisoner, and spectators permitted in the courtroom were searched for arms.

NO APPEAL PLANNED

Judge Atkinson made no further comment in court on the $10,000 ransom abduction. McCall confessed to have perpetrated at Princeton May 28 but remarked privately that "it was the most cold-blooded thing I ever heard of—there were no mitigating circumstances in this case."

Jack Kehoe, the defense attorney appointed by the court, said he thought McCall had received a fair trial yesterday and that there would be no appeal. He said he had followed McCall's instructions in representing him and that he conferred with the defendant today and McCall declared he had nothing more to say.

grand jury, because Police Chief Edward J. Tighe and two other members of the Revere department are under indictment.

Under the law, according to the Rev. Jenkins, a police officer under charges must be suspended, but the only person with the power to suspend Chief Tighe is Mayor James O'Brien—and he, too, is under indictment.

CITES EMERGENCY

"The syste mhas broken down and an emergency exists in Revere," asserted the minister.

He said a joint meeting of the organizations he represents will be held and a vote passed to ask Governor Hurley's intervention.

After the ev. Jenkins' appearance, the grand jury temporarily suspended its hearing of evidence believed to be concerned with allegedly racket-operated bingo games in Revere, under the guise of charity.

ACCUSED FACE COURT

Meanwhile today arraignments of men indicted on Tuesday took place in superior court. Charges against them include setting up and promoting a lottery, conspiracy and setting up and promoting a gaming nuisance.

Lieutenant Henry Tracy, head of the Revere police vice squad, and Patrolman William C. Gibson, the other member, pleaded not guilty and were allowed to go on their own recognizance, pending trial.

Tracy was represented by Attorney Jams T. Brennan, who is also counsel for Mayor James O'Brien of Revere, who has pleaded not guilty to larceny and gaming indictments.

12 ENTER PLEAS

Twelve others arraigned today all pleaded not guilty to the indictment charges and furnished $500 bail. They were:

Morris Rosen, Archie Engle, John Frocus, Bernard McGary, Joseph Tatelman, Jacob Turransky, alias Dutch Turner and Max Gorfein, Samuel Langford, Jacob (Scootchie) Chansky, Peter (Big Peter) Hedstrom, John T. (Packy) Walsh and Louis Alpert.

Another defendant, William L. O'Brien, Jr., pleaded not guilty and was held in $3000 bail, highest of any of the defendants thus far.

MOSCOW, June 16 (INS)—A flagpole belonging to the ill-fated American arctic schooner Jeanette which perished in the ice 57 years ago, has been discovered by the Soviet arctic station on Henriette Island, it was revealed today.

CHANGE BAD FEET TO BETTER FEET—OVERNIGHT
"Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man. Sore, aching, burning feet probably cause more misery—more distress—more bad temper and cursing than most other human ailments.
Many a time—overnight—you can take out the sting—the soreness—the burning and aching from your poor distressed feet by giving them a good rubbing with penetrating medicated OMEGA OIL.
Rub them before going to bed and next morning you will probably awake happy—walk more joyfully to work—35c. "Oil your feet."

Devaluation Rumors Refuse To Be Downed

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

[illegible]

STATE STREET NOTEBOOK

Gossip has it . . . General Electric will show about 20 cents per share in the current quarter . . . That Atchison will show about the same result . . . That low retail gasoline prices prevalent in the Boston market for some months are a thing of the past . . . now that tank car jobber prices have been raised . . . unless dealers decide to accept a smaller profit . . . which is doubtful

[illegible]

NO DECISION YET

The stock market has yet to render a decision as to the direction of the next important trend. A budget of good news at mid-week failed to help bullish forces who seem ultra timid the moment offerings, no matter how light, appear. Under the circumstances there is nothing for us to do but wait. It is a trying course to follow but will be worth the price paid.

Many Hold Same View As Haney

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK [illegible]

H. W. Trout of Douglasville, Ga., writes:

"We need some new laws: First, pass a law prohibiting any man holding the President's place the third term.

Second, repeal the tag on labor (the payments to Washington for security).

"Third, take the vote from every person who has been on relief over one year. FROM THE ADMINISTRATION IN WASHINGTON down to a man raking leaves. When the taxpayers get in a minority, we might lose our American form of government."

[illegible]

"After the World War, cotton sold at 3 cents per pound, yet there was no complaint of the ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-clothed. Since the recent wet nurses in habitue Washington, cotton has sold from 8 to 13 cents, and I understand that about one-third of the population is on relief.

"If the government should discharge a half million employes, this country would still be in debt for the next hundred years. Surely Mr. Roosevelt and Congress will be remembered after the present generation has passed away."

[illegible]

"We of the middle class do not believe in the WPA. We have seen how it helps the foreigners and the lazy. They, of course, believe in it because they can get a living without much work by putting in a little time. It is a curse.

"They tell me they are on the WPA and get so much on that, then go up to town hall and get a handout such as clothes and groceries, and two-thirds of them own automobiles, AND THE LIKE OF ME PAYING FOR IT IN TAXES.

"Can the government stop that curse and let business pick up? No, because that helps to get votes."

[illegible]

I. W. A. of Los Angeles, says:

"The New Deal has been ill-conceived.

"1. Labor's mob rule and government don't go together.

"2. The dollar itself is not real value.

"3. People do not save their money as if it were cordwood. Americans save by loans to others.

"I recommend abolishing all taxes for the general operation of government except one retail sales tax.

"Abolish the present system of soak-the-rich and make the poor man poorer. Make every man pay. Give a small dole to the unfortunate.

"America was made by work."

Attorney General Paul A. Dever today mapped plans for his re-election on the Democratic ticket after announcement that set at rest the rumor he would oppose Governor Hurley for re-election.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

City Hall "Inside":

Faithful followers of this column will recall a hint several weeks ago that Mayor Tobin was not pleased with Major Robert Whitcomb's admission that the Major had an ambition to be Governor . . . Subjecting himself to considerable criticism, Mayor Tobin named his former co-worker in the telephone company to the important post of heading a survey commission formed to make the city's normal efficiency more efficient, if possible, and more economical . . . Major Whitcomb, as an appointee, was a good target for those political critics who thrive on second guessing any high official . . . The Major was an acknowledged Republican, and it was said that his real home was in Springfield.

GEORGE HOLLAND

A very friendly press soft-pedaled [illegible] was enjoyed by [illegible] newspaper friends of the Executive [illegible] being reported even in several [illegible] charges for [illegible] . . . Of course, Mayor Tobin [illegible] . . . Nor did he [illegible] . . . We did [illegible]

This column was first to imply that the Mayor had been embarrassed by Major Whitcomb's announcement of his candidacy . . . When the boom for Corporation Counsel Henry Parkman for Governor was started in Worcester, Mayor Tobin was placed in the unhappy position of having one of his own cabinet being emphasized as an outstanding member of the opposition party.

The second (Whitcomb) outburst of Republicanism in the Tobin camp was a heart-breaker . . . A front page story yesterday said that Major Whitcomb is "expected to submit his resignation on Monday" . . . And Major Whitcomb is reported to have said: "I have given the matter no consideration whatsoever."

Your reporter is not even a small voice of the city administration . . . But if Major Whitcomb wonders who it is that "expects" him to submit his resignation, he can take this column's word for the correct, two word answer . . . The answer is: "The Mayor."

Charlestown Would Set Him Right:

From today's issue of a magazine called Ken [illegible]

"FATHERS! Any significance in the fact that Father's Day falls on June 19, Bunker Hill day?"

No significance whatsoever, as far as this column can puzzle out . . . Even if the date were correct.

Once Over Lightly:

Attorney General Paul A. Dever's announcement of his candidacy to succeed himself brings to a happy end a six-months piece of speculation in this space about the prosecutor's plans . . . That he would seek to succeed himself, is the way we had it. . . Suzanne Austin, the Boston girl, would have been featured in the current Cocoanut Grove show, but she hurt her ankle . . . Sue will get her chance at another time this summer . . . Boat traffic on the Charles these nights stalls at that part of the river where the music of Bob Hardy's band is heard best floating from the bandstand of the Hotel Sheraton Roof . . . Don De Vodi's Rhumba band will return to the Ritz Carlton Roof a week from Monday for an all-summer engagement and Vincent Lopez and his boys are figuring in negotiations now going on aiming to bring the famous pianist to the Ritz five weeks from Monday.

"We were married on May 31," the bride declared, "at the Center Street Congregational Church, Jamaica Plain. I knew Bob six months before we were wed and he was always a straight fellow.

"He worked on a truck when he could get a job. Times have been bad lately and he couldn't get a WPA job without first going on welfare. We have lived with my folks since our marriage.

"I never knew he was in any trouble and I still don't believe he has done anything wrong. I hope everything will come out alright and in the meantime I'm going to stick by him to the end."

Police declared the two were involved in the theft of two safes in which [illegible] the total [illegible] was $15. One of the safes carried off was empty.

At a lineup in police headquarters it was reported one of the other two youths tied with Kennedy admitted the burglaries were committed to help him support his bride of two weeks.

Dist. Atty. Hoban Seeks Re-election

3 Roosevelts Fly To Nahant Bridal

town fathers are going to know why.

At Framingham today two prospective wedding guests, little Sara and Kate Roosevelt, daughters of James Roosevelt, were in bed with "sniffly" colds.

MAY ATTEND BRIDAL

Their mother, Mrs. Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, said she hoped the children would be well enough Saturday to be whisked by auto as planned, to the Nahant wedding.

Other guests whose names are all to be found in the social register were en route to Nahant by private yachts, by train and by automobile.

As the final hours before the ceremony approached the principals in this important wedding began their final preparations for their day of days.

TRY ON CLOTHES

As the hour for the ceremony on Saturday at high noon approached there appeared the probability that the weather conditions would not be ideal.

The weather man told a Boston Evening American reporter today indications this morning were that a heavily clouded sky will hover over Chicago and that while there may be no rain on the wedding day there was a low pressure area over the guests.

The police guard arrangements for both the President and the young principals in the important wedding have been completed.

It was estimated the police guard is one of the largest ever assembled in the history of Massachusetts. Fifty [illegible] officers from state police and local departments together with the members of the state service department will be engaged in protection duty in the cities and towns that lie between Boston and Salem.

The place selected by the couple for their honeymoon was [illegible] a matter of speculation today. Reports have been current John and Ann would leave for a honeymoon trip to Europe. Another report was they were planning a trip to Bermuda.

THEIR SECRET

All questions about the honeymoon plans have been sidestepped by both Anne and John today.

How they would slip away from the wedding reception without being seen was also a matter of speculation today. The geographical location of Nahant which would be an island instead of a peninsula excepting for the road width strip of land extending from Lynn makes it almost impossible for an unseen getaway from the Clark home.

There were reports however the couple would slip out of Nahant by speed boat, proceed to Salem, where they will board an automobile and speed to Rye N. H. for a party be given Miss Hope Halsey by her uncle, former Governor Alvan T. Fuller at the Fuller estate.

On this evening's calendar is a wedding [illegible] the city's [illegible] formal [illegible] Miss Lodie Loughlin [illegible] of the Hermosa de Sha [illegible] entertaining at a dinner dance at her Concord home.

FLAGS IN CHURCH

Today the church was decorated with a [illegible] flag to the left of the Chancel and a [illegible] new American flag on the right.

Among the distinguished persons seated in the front pews besides the Cook and Roosevelt clans will be Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau and James Farley, postmaster general. They are in Hyannisport and will stay at the Senator Early Saturday they will be escorted by a police to Nahant together with the President's mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, and other guests who are now at the Starlet.

Marvin McIntyre, the President's secretary, and members of his staff remain in Swampscott are hard at work on the correspondence and advance business going in for the usual executive routine.

When word came that the session would run over into today the Delphine was ordered to proceed to Salem and the President resigned himself to delay. He may not leave until midnight, should Congress still be wrangling at nightfall, and if was possible the presidential special would hurl clear the Washington yards before tomorrow.

He sent word he would be on hand for the ceremony Saturday in any event - even if he has to turn around and come immediately back to the capital.

Long distance wires buzzed between the White House and Nahant today as John Roosevelt kept anxious tabs on the way Congress threatened to interfere with certain of his wedding plans.

Ross Kidnaper's Doom Sealed

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed today the death sentence for John Henry Seadlund, kidnaper of Charles S. Ross, wealthy retired greeting card manufacturer.

Ross was kidnaped Sept. 25, 1937, and was found dead in a Wisconsin woods. Seadlund and [illegible] had been apprehended in California.

U. S., Britain Join To 'Humanize' War

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who sailed for the United States yesterday, is expected to give President Roosevelt his opinion whether there is any genuine hope for disarmament at this time.

Before his departure the ambassador conferred with Chamberlain, Viscount Halifax, the foreign secretary, and other foreign diplomats.

During his discussion with Henderson Chamberlain said the British government was willing to abandon the practice of police air bombings on India's northwest frontier and in Palestine if that would help in securing "a general agreement to abolish bombing from the air."

CITES JAPAN, SPAIN

Henderson had asked if the government were not willing to abandon police bombings and added:

"The official spokesmen of Japan, Spain and other countries are using this practice in order to neutralize the moral effect of protests which his majesty's government have made in respect of bombing civilian populations both in China and Spain."

Chamberlain emphasized that British air bombings were not carried out until 24 hours notice had been given the populations to evacuate.

Regarding reduction of armaments, the premier said Britain is "always ready to co-operate with other nations in this subject."

Britain "feels similarly," he said, in connection with Hull's references to the humanization of warfare.

BAN ON AIR BOMBERS

Chamberlain is known to favor the "qualitative" type of disarmament such as abolition of the most deadly kinds of weapons - perhaps bombing planes.

This, he believes, is the type of disarmament most likely to escape evasion.

Britain herself is in the midst of a gigantic rearmament program and recently has taken no lead in attempts at disarmament in view of unsettled world conditions.

This war practice may become deadly later on. Anyhow, these United States soldiers at Puerto Rico will be in good form for the huge war games next Spring, involving the Atlantic and Pacific fleets. Contrast of war and peace is emphasized here by the charge through gas clouds, against the tropical palm backdrop.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 16

ANYONE who undertakes to analyze the psychology of Congress—any Congress, but particularly the present Congress—will fall into grave error in attempting to reduce its reactions to a formula.

This Congress has reversed itself three and four times in a single day.

Its whirligig performances are bewildering to the eye and confusing to the mind.

IT WAS the $5,000,000,000 Spending-Spree Bill, and not the Florida primaries, which brought Congress back to the President's heel like a nice little doggie.

Yet the other day this same Congress took an action which indicates a swing in the opposite direction.

It [illegible] passed with little attention [illegible] in the face of a White House veto of the new [illegible] and Drugs Act, the [illegible] squarely behind a [illegible] giving to [illegible] the right to go into [illegible] of [illegible] of Agriculture [illegible] [illegible] facts.

Girl About Town

by Marjorie McBride

IT'S PRETTY generally known that some females knit and crochet while sitting waiting for the fire alarms that send them out to look their best. A host of weak jokes have been hand around the idea.

To Fire Chief John O'Hern of the Watertown department it isn't funny at all. He has 46 men in his command and they comprise a hardy crew, but they knit, crochet and do fancy bat- tee work while waiting for the call.

Marjorie McBride

Recently some of the men completed a model of a Flanders Field cemetery, and presented it to the American Legion in Watertown. It is now in the reply room.

When they knit or crochet, or do their fancy lattice work, their creations are given to church fairs or bazaars, and they never accept anything for it.

They go in for basket ball, too, at times, such as last night and Tuesday the two fire houses in Watertown, O'Hern encourages that. He said, he has never heard of therapy which is based on the theory that a man who keeps his hands busy at some form of labor will keep his peace of mind. But he puts their theories in practice.

Oh, yes, the fire department of Water- ... very good at pulling out first. In fact it has a record which is the envy of every force in cities of its size.

JOAN CLARK, the 19th sister of Ann Lindsay Clark, who is about to marry Johnny Roosevelt, likes her attentions. A few days ago when Ruby Newman called at her home to get suggestions concerning the menu for the wedding reception, she asked him for tea.

Modestly, Ruby replied that he was a mere nobody, and why didn't she wait and get the autograph of Harry Hopkins, who is expected at the bridal? The little girl said:

"Who's he? I never heard of the fella!"

Which may ... and then again it may not tackle Mr. Hopkins.

A SCOUT informed Girl About Town that the property in Weston recently purchased by Eddie Collins of the Red Sox contains 70 acres as a part of the house on the farm was built in 1816.

The Wage Bill

by Hugh S. Johnson

NEW YORK CITY Of all the proposals for wage-hour legislation actually considered in Congress the original one was by far the best. From the experience of NBA I thought that a much better way would have been simply to prohibit importations of any article of goods made on lower labor standards than its own of the highest competing grade.

General Johnson

This part was never seriously considered. This has startled even in the exaggeration of the Black Century days. That was one of the worst and most dislocating legislative proposals ever put before Congress. It flatly gave to the Executive arbitrary power to fix wages and hours everywhere or anywhere in the United States. It was so bad that even Senator [illegible] couldn't support it. He revised it in the direction of workability but it was still so bad that nobody could seriously defend it and it died.

The bill has been completely rewritten at least four separate times and while the compromise may seem to be a hasty-pudding hash, it is composed of suggestions which had appeared in other drafts and had been pretty thoroughly studied.

IF YOU are to accept at once a Federal regulation at all this bill is the most flexible, sensible and least dislocating of any of the drafts. Much of the criticism of it harks back to the NRA experience and frankly is a fiasco. As a matter of fact, there are so many exceptions and opportunities for relaxing operation that proves the point that there is little left with which to compare the NRA experience.

Forced by pressures which, under the Recovery Act were compelling, NRA tried to regulate wages and hours in fields where [illegible] was impossible. It had very little trouble in the great industrial industries. Its grief came when it rolled into small establishments in intrastate commerce and in the so-called service industries—barbers, cleaners and dyers, restaurants, [illegible] beauty shops and also small, one-family stores where Mamma, Poppa and Junior always had done all the work and kept open as late as they pleased and couldn't see any reason for change. Ninety-five per cent of complaints about NRA came from this field.

As I read this new bill it avoids all these pitfalls by exemptions. If the administration sticks to that the only trouble is going to be on the question of North-South differentials. On that point the bill is very ... [illegible]

The Brighter Side

by Damon Runyon

THE depredations of the Machine Age upon the human power of the nation has just struck home to us. It seems that a fellow out West has invented a mechanical device for picking the winners of the horse races.

Now we have vaguely sensed the threat to human employment of the mechanical cotton picker of the South and We have felt the menace of the robot corn grabber of Iowa. Perhaps, we should have been publicly deploring these gadgets and their probable effect upon human workers.

Damon Runyon

However, our remoteness from the fields for which the machines are devised has prevented us from getting any direct and personal reaction. We did not happen to know anyone that the cotton picker or the corn snatcher would put out of work. That mechanical horse handicapper is quite another matter. It might completely ruin our immediate social circle.

We are advised of this machine through an advertisement clipped from a Los Angeles paper and mailed to us by one of our omnivorous readers o it there, a Mr. Hal Dunkin.

The advertisemnt says that where guesswork and inside dope and other undependable sources have failed to call a consistent number of winning steeds, science moves in and does the job. We see in this a subtle attack upon the Turf Advisers' Association of America and are disposed to take up the cudgels in its behalf.

THE National Turf Advisers' Association, as the readers of this column may recall, is made up of the gentlemen who sale up alongside you at the race course and ask to borrow your pencil for which small favor they will immediately enter into an interesting conversation with you about the impending race.

Well, anyway—what is that you say? Oh yes, I know the rest of the story, do you. Well then that saves us several paragraphs of explanation of the duties and functions of the members of the N. T. A. and permits us to get to the meat of the argument, which is that obviously a mechanical horse picker would eventually deprive the membership of the N. T. A. of employment.

WEBSTER'S Dictionary defines a tout as a fellow who secretly watches race horses to gather information to be used in betting. Nowadays that description covers a clocker rather than a tout. The word tout more likely derives from an old English term that meant a look-out house or eminence from which the sea coast could be watched by thieves and smugglers.

We do not know how it got from thievery and smuggling into horse racing, but we do know the gentleman engaged in spreading turf "info" never liked it, and that it was one reason why the N. T. A. was organized. Under no circumstances must you ever call a member of the N. T. A. a tout. No other word is barred, however.

It is not only the prospect of the vast membership of the N. T. A. being thrown out of work by the mechanical horse picker that disturbs us. It is the thought that the machine would automatically do away with all those great stories with which a turf adviser supports his information. We do not think that any machine can ever be devised to tell those stories as entertainingly or as well.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

DANGEROUS talk these days. All the old racial prejudices and hates surging up again. Hitler is a menace to the peace of the world. Even beneath the suffage pleasantries of our contacts with Japan there is a carelessness and blase our whole social order is undermined.

Here, for example, is the sort of thing I mean. The Young American writer of the following letter is sincere and conscientious. She is deeply loyal to America, and highly convinced that the plan she presents will serve and save the country she loves. But would it?

Elsie Robinson

Dear Miss Robinson:

"Americanism is born in the home and as a baby is born—through the union of two races. Some of us do not realize this fact, and that is why there are so many foreign ones still established.

"There should be only one right reason for marriage in America, and that is for one true American to marry another. Those people who marry foreign titles are more to be pitied than envied, and they should be immediately deported of their citizenship for having taken such a degrading step.

"Children of mixed marriages are bound to be uncertain as to which race they belong to, and the race cannot be saved by an Iota. I suggest these two ways:

"First: Decree that all marriages of aliens must be performed before at least 12 witnesses. Such procedure would shame people out of unwarranted foreigners.

Second—Exile all Americans who do intermarry, and bar them forever from further entry into the U. S. A.

"Let all true Americans make this country of ours ALL AMERICAN."

"MRS. I. R. MOORE, jr."
San Antonio, Texas.

STARTLING? Yet believe it or not, these sentiments represent the attitude of thousands of other Americans, all of whom would be aghast if told that their ideas are a worse menace to this Democracy than all the foreign Isms rolled in one.

Hitler himself, in his most fanatical outbursts, never contemplated a more ruthless, perilous or stupid procedure than the program suggested by this enthusiastic young patriot. Judged by such standards the Indians are the only TRUE AMERICANS. And that conglomerate mixture of immigrants from Holland, England, France, Spain, Italy, Russia and Germany who founded this country and brought it to its present condition, are simply a bunch of dangerous, disloyal squatters.

The simple truth which most of us forget is that AMERICA ISN'T BASED ON BLOOD UNITY. AMERICA IS A STATE OF MIND. Americans are not a people in the sense that Germans or Italians or Englishmen are a people. There is no such thing as a 100 per cent American, physically. We always have been a mixture of breeds.

But we have something indefinitely finer than a common flesh. WE HAVE A COMMON VISION. THE NOBLEST, PROUDEST VISION THAT EVER FLAMED IN MORTAL CLAY!

And the very fact that that vision feeds on a diversity of races is the secret of its greatness. Instead of having the necessarily limited reaction of one race, we have the potent mixture of all races, in which all bloods give their best to serve one glorious ideal.

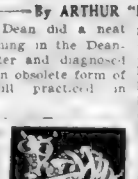
WHO is a "good American?" The man who holds in his heart and serves with his hand, the dream of Democracy. Whether his blood came from the deserts of Persia, the jungles of Africa, the steppes of Siberia—that man is a GOOD AMERICAN.

Who is a "bad American?" The man who does not believe in liberty, equality and justice for all, and who would make these United States a limited reservation for the privileged few—that man is a BAD AMERICAN...AND TRAITOROUS TO ALL THAT AMERICA MEANS AND HAS ACCOMPLISHED.

One Word Led to Another

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

THE Gloomy Dean did a neat bit of glooming in the Deaney this semester and diagnosed Democracy as an obsolete form of government still practiced in America.



He establishes some extra postulates on dictatorship and totalitarianism, or consecutive syllables to that effect. Some day in the far future some scientist will reconstruct the democratic dinosaur from the bones pulled by this administration.

To be obsolete means that you are out of print, out of patience or out of office. Democracy ain't obsolete. It's the Republicans.

What the gloomish Dean meant was that America was the final dashaway of Democracy which is now on its last pair of sprained ankles. It has been kicked around Europe, Asia and Africa like a bat in a barroom fight.

Right down in his heart the grummery Dean knows that Democracy ain't evaporated in America and that it is not obsolescent. It is going as strong as limburger on a mustache. America has a peculiar way of showing its liberty, but we still have it, and it ain't lost its snapper.

Let the Dean goose in his grumpery and let him be pessimistic about the last stand of Democracy. But don't forget that America is a pretty large order and that the egg fits the nest.

If somebody must worry about it then by all means give the consequential perplexity to the gloomsome Dean. He has excellent terminal facilities and loading platforms for the handling of worry. He operates a sort of reverse beauty parlor where you can get artificial wrinkles and temporary crows-feet.

And thanks to the Gloomish Dean. Now that he's doing our worrying we can stop.

Good Breakfast Makes Day A Success

By MARTHA LEE

Just what is the matter with the American appetite at breakfast? Leading food authorities, physicians and nutritionists attribute lack of appetite at the breakfast table, especially where business men and women are concerned, to too little physical exercise.

Those last few winks of sleep that seem so important at the time they are enjoyed are really very expensive when they mean missing breakfast. The office worker working schedule can be upset because too little breakfast or none at all has been eaten. Mid-morning headaches, jittery nerves, weariness and inability to concentrate are either signs that breakfast has been neglected.

Leading the list of the morning for an early rising and a long walk before breakfast is advocated as a cure-all for the business man and woman, who find they have no appetite for breakfast.

It won't take more than ten or ten hours of waking at a lively pace to get a healthy appetite for a bowl of crisp cereal with fresh strawberries and cream, a platter of scrambled eggs and bacon, or just the refreshing juice before tackling the joys and cares of the day.

The salad-a-day will find that a week of breakfasts of fruit, cereal, eggs, bacon, toast and coffee will be a welcome change from the usual coffee and roll breakfast. By the end of the week, the worker will feel better, look better, and have more energy for his work. Try a breakfast of fruit, cereal, eggs, bacon, toast and coffee, and see how much better you feel at lunch time. Remember that you have been fasting for eight hours, and your system needs the vitamins and minerals that are in the foods you eat. Sometime you'll feel better, look better, and have more energy for your work.

Make up your breakfast appetite with a walk every morning. Even just before the office. A change of air and exercise and fresh will help you to relish that long-lost appetite.

And to young business women especially who constantly have poundage on their minds remember that exercise and a good breakfast will do a great deal more towards a trim figure than a few extra minutes of sleep and no food until lunch time.

Lotion Soothes, Corrects Puffs, Under-Eye Wrinkles

By ARLINE GOULD

IS IT? IS IT wonderful to look into your eyes and realize . . . well, whatever a person is going to realize when he looks into your eyes, he'll be much more taken by the sight if there's something definitely divine about them? Clear with a lovely light they don't have to be framed like Joan Crawford's or fringed like Garbo's to be an enchanting . . . Loreen manner.

There is an eye lotion that should be lined up with your most precious aids to beauty. Or if you rank them away from interested males and younger sisters you'll also look up this decorative bottle of eye lotion. You want it all to yourself.

For a quick beauty treatment before you go out at night . . . saturate pads and simply apply them to the lids while you rest a little while . . . then no one'll have to look for stars in the sky for they'll be in your eyes.

Use it morning and night eight warmed with an eye cup.

For the fairness of the ingredients in this clear soothing eye lotion you pay comparatively little . . . the bottle is a dear and it is generous.

If puffs settle under your eyes and there is nothing more disfiguring than eye puffs, you agree that is the lotion for you to have on hand. It has special ingredients which will soothe and smooth them away. At the same time that fatigue and tension are eliminated lines are corrected as well. Using the lotion regularly . . . the frame of this eye . . . soothing and tightening . . . and has a normal appearance . . . with a little patience and . . . about 12 days . . . will be . . . for a complete treatment . . . for her at the . . . Disguise Hair

DEAR ARLINE—Perhaps my question is a silly one but I don't know to whom else to write. I'm pretty well covered with dark hair which is quite fine. I've tried peroxide, but nothing happened. How does one go about bleaching dark hair so it won't be noticeable?—JANE M., West New . . .

DEAR JANE M.—Yours is quite the smart instead of the lazy way—if you don't care to use a depilatory. There is a marvelous little white henna bleaching kit on the market (white henna used to be available only in costly treatments, but it's included in this fifty-five cent kit) which will bleach all superfluous hair immediately and perfectly. This kit includes the henna, an accelerating liquid, and a scalp brush and brilliantine. If the bleach is used on the head. For information on it, phone me at LIBerty 4000, week days until five, or write again, and please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Biff Spurns Dorsey's Offer

CHAPTER 21

Harriet couldn't say just as I was getting into my car. In an alarmed voice she poured out her story.

"Mr. Dorsey," she pleaded, holding onto me with both fingers as though she were afraid I would run off. I know how Biff treated you. Please forgive him and help him out now. He used to respect you once. I know you still do. He'll listen to you. I promise he will. Whatever you did, you didn't know what it was doing. He's saying Mr. Dorsey.

"Harriet, I would do better if it weren't Biff. He's just a big to your door. And you're treated me just where you have, a gorgeous girl. I never go to forget that, girl, and

"It's for your sake I'm trying to help Biff. I owe you that. There are unfortunately many of them. Everywhere we go to engage we meet people that owe a certain debt to me. You're going to be one of your own to think of Harriet. You're going to become one of my debtors in this case."

She struck her head firmly. "Whatever I did Mr. Dorsey I did for Biff. Can't you see that? My learning to swing, trying to appreciate it for you. I did it so I could be closer to Biff. When he turned against you, I knew I wasn't going to have myself on him. But he really is swell and I'm not going to see him go. If you won't help me I'll do it myself. I'll call a taxi!"

SPECULATOR, N. Y., JUNE 16—MAX SCHMELING gave his skipping rope a final flourish, bowed a jerky acknowledgment to the applause and wrapped his steaming muscles in a colored kimono.

The day's training seance was over and the crowd of men made thick from lavish living, and ladies, big in the bust, moved out of the canvas enclosure.

Behind them the thin, querulous voice of Yussel Jacobs rose in an appealing squeal. "Teekits," he squalled. "Will be'n Sayull . . ." But the message was lost in the hum of conversation.

A strange thing happened as I walked with Caswell Adams of the New York Times through the human sheep run. One of Schmeling's spar goblins, the lanky lad named Al Albin, caught stride and began to talk fight with Adams, for whom he had a fawning acquaintance.

"Huh!" he bragged, "I kin tag Max whenever I wants." Then he added, winking a wise leer, "I know how I'm gonna bet my money."

Garms' Hitting Surprise of Bees

Clouted Safely in 15 Straight Games

There's no getting away from the fact that Deb Garms is the surprise package of the Bees.

The Texan has now hit safely in 15 consecutive games. When a feat is [illegible] to a Stengel man [illegible] Casey Stengel was the first to [illegible] his usual candid manner and hand out orchids to Garms.

"He's one fellow on this ball club we wouldn't trade," the professor told newspapermen.

Sharkey Says McCoy Could Beat Max | Alexandra On Claiming War

By JACK CONWAY

EVEN THE tremendous ballyhoo in connection with the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling world's heavyweight championship boxing bout in the Yankee Stadium, New York, on next Wednesday night has not taken away interest from the Al McCoy-Bob Pastor ten-round battle at the Garden on Monday night. In fact the nearest to the date of the Louis-Schmeling jam has added fire to the McCoy-Pastor affair.

Mr Boston

"McCoy would be a cinch to win from Max Schmeling," said Jack Sharkey as he leaned over the press row to watch the Casey-Robert mat bout at the Garden. "I fought Schmeling twice, and so should know his style. McCoy has the necessary speed, skill and left-hand punch to beat the German.

"Louis would give McCoy much more trouble. I am not prepared to state what would happen if Al were to meet the champion, but I am certain the Maine youngster could conquer Schmeling."

I asked Sharkey if Louis will be able to win from Schmeling.

"That depends on how he fights," replied Sharkey. "If Louis walks into Schmeling and keeps his left hand popping until he finds an opening for his right, he can win. Louis won't do so well if he backs away from the German. I think Louis possesses all the fistic tools to make a great fighter, but he will have to use all of them if he is to win from Schmeling.

"I don't consider Schmeling a top fighter, but he is always in condition, a patient and makes few mistakes in the ring.

"Louis will be more mature mentally next Wednesday night than he was when he was knocked out by Schmeling.

"The fact Louis fought Schmeling so soon after getting married didn't do him any good. Newly married fighters are not worth a dime a dozen. I know as I was knocked out by Romeo Rojas shortly after I was married.

"Two years has given Louis sufficient time to forget the Schmeling knockout.

"McCoy, still young, will be in a swell spot if he wins over Pastor. He may get a crack at the winner of the Louis-Schmeling go. If such a tussle takes place, I would like to see it held in Boston. I think a bout between the winner of the Louis-Schmeling bout and the victor of the McCoy-Pastor match in Boston would draw $500,000."

They told me he has been working in the gym for the past week.

"I was getting a bit heavy and I wished to take off some weight," said the former champion. "I was sorry there were no kids in the gym working as I would have liked to have taught them a few tricks about boxing."

McCoy and Pastor will end training in New York tomorrow, and [illegible]

George Alexandra On Claiming War

I HAVE received an interesting letter from George Alexandra who signs himself "The Halter King." Alexandra and Harvey Campbell have been the two most active horsemen in making claims at Suffolk Downs.

Alexandra in his letter takes exception to the "novel" race at Suffolk Downs which are for horses that have been claimed in claiming races but which cannot be claimed in the "novel" race.

Alexandra takes a few gentle pokes at L. E. Ogle, Charles Grande, Harry Trotsek and the other owners and trainers who entered their thoroughbreds in this extra "novel" race.

"Harry Trotsek is the guy who claimed Peaceful and Scudder out of the same race the other day," writes Alexandra.

One must give Alexandra credit for only claiming one horse out of a single race.

"The Halter King" calls attention to the fact that some of the lady trainers have been doing some claiming, and they cheered when the extra race was announced.

Alexandra believes that every horseman has a right to use his halter in a claiming race if he wishes to do so.

In England there is a custom among horsemen for the trainer who takes another man's horse to invite the former owner to dinner after the races. If such invitations were extended at Suffolk Downs, it would probably be necessary to call upon Joe Timilty to furnish a police order to maintain order as the rival horsemen sipped their soup.

Long Meeting Has Proved Harmful

SAM SIMONS, who was one of the moving spirits in the funding of Suffolk Downs and who controls the concessions on the East Boston track, does not believe the claiming war is entirely responsible for the small fields.

"The meeting has been too long," said Sam. "Many of the horses that shipped to Suffolk Downs came from Florida and Maryland. They had been racing all Winter, and some of them were in poor physical condition. While there were as many as 1200 horses on the grounds not more than 350 to 400 of them were ready for the races.

"I agree with you when you say it is an injustice to blame Racing Secretary Gene Bury. The stalls at Suffolk Downs were assigned before Bury was signed as racing secretary. He had to do the best he could with the horses on hand, and I believe he has done so."

Sox Seek Sweep

Wagner Up In Final At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS June 16 -Just as Manager Joe Cronin had predicted, the Red Sox were unable to make any last minute trade or purchase before the ban on big league player swaps except via waiver route, went into effect last midnight.

"I would like to have acquired another hurler, but as long as no other first division club was able to bolster its staff, I'm losing no sleep over my failure," Boss Joe chirped this morning as he nominated young Charlie Wagner to steer the Fenwaylites to a clean sweep of the three-game engagement with the lowly Browns.

Little "Dude" doesn't care how he wins, as long as he comes through, but if it's just the same to his mates, he would prefer that they do their hitting a little earlier than they did in the first two games here.

'Faster Than Walter Johnson'

Johnny Vander Meer Greatest Hurler Ever

McKechnie Tells Of New Find

EXCLUSIVE

By HERB FINNEGAN

"I've been in baseball all my life," said Bill McKechnie over the phone from New York this morning, "and he's the fastest thing I ever saw."

The Cincinnati Reds manager was talking, of course, of Johnny Vander Meer, sensational young left-hander who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Bees in Cincinnati last Saturday, and came back to duplicate the feat last night against the Dodgers in Brooklyn before a sellout crowd of 38,000.

It was the first time in history that any man ever pitched two no-hit games in a single year, let alone in successive starts.

"I've seen Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Cy Young, Lefty Grove and Bob Feller, the former Braves manager went on, "but Vander Meer has them all outclassed in the matter of sheer speed.

"He just goes in there and pours it on. There's simply no stopping him. Why, only four balls were hit out of the infield all last night.

"He's the answer to any manager's prayer. When I took over the reins in Cincinnati last spring, baseball interest was at its lowest ebb in years.

DRAWING FANS

"Now with Vander Meer as the spearhead and the club in the pennant fight, we are drawing out the fans as never before, and we don't have to depend on night games to do it either.

"Cincinnati was the first major league city to endorse night baseball. The game last night was the first ever played in Brooklyn under arc lights.

"He's a wonderful boy, too," McKechnie continued. "Easiest in the world to handle. Bashful almost to a fault. After the game last night he tried to give the fielders all the credit for it.

"He was in danger only once. That was in the ninth inning with one out when he filled the bases with passes. I called time and went out to the mound to talk to him.

"I simply said: 'They're more afraid of you than you are of them. Just pour it on.'

"And how he responded! That short pause let him collect himself again and he got rid of Koy and Durocher with ease.

"You can't blame him for being nervous out there. Here he was with the greatest of all pitching records at his fingertips, with his father, mother, and best girl looking on and with even the partisan Brooklyn fans pulling for him to come through.

PLENTY OF WHAT—

"It shows how courageous he is when he pulled himself together so quickly to get those last two men. Two dangerous hitters, too.

"He's only 23 now, and he's going to get better. He depends mainly on his speed now. When he improves his curve ball and change of pace, he'll be practically unhittable.

"If you thought Turner, Fette and MacFayden pitched well for me in Boston last year, wait until you see young Vandy.

"He's going to rank with the greatest pitchers of all time or I miss my guess."

What the reticent McKechnie didn't say is that Vander Meer was not considered good enough last year by Manager Chuck Dressen to even stay with the club.

Dressen sent the youngster out to the Reds' farm at Syracuse, and even there he failed to make a respectable showing.

But the magic of McKechnie and Hank Gowdy, which made 20-game winners of both Turner and Fette in their first big league season a year ago, soon brought results.

They have worked long and patiently with the youngster all this spring.

The results speak for themselves.

JOHNNY "NO-HIT" VANDER MEER entered Baseball's Hall of Fame for the second time within four days yesterday when he handed the Brooklyn Dodgers a 6 to 0 blank without giving them a single hit or run. This pitching performance is unique in baseball while it also shattered Dazzy Vance's National League record for consecutive hitless innings. He has hurled 18 1-3 innings of hitless ball.

Dizzy Praises Vandy's Feat

CHICAGO, June 16 (INS) — "Young Johnny sure has given us other pitchers something to shoot at," declared Dizzy Dean tonight when informed that Johnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati had pitched his second no-hit game within a week against Brooklyn's Dodgers.

"Tell Johnny from me, if you see him," added Diz, "that I'd like to see him pitch 25 more of these no-hitters—all against the Giants!"

Dean himself, though he has been a standout National League pitcher for years, never has been able to carve himself a no-hit classic.

"I'm still a pitcher, though," he reminded, "and may still do it."

"No Hit Vandy" Faces B's Here Next Sunday

Boston baseball fans are in for the best treat of the year next Sunday when the Bees meet the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader. For one of the pitchers who will hurl for the Reds is none other than Johnny "No-Hit" Vander Meer, the hurler of two consecutive no-hit games.

Bob Quinn made that announcemetn today after a telephone conversation with Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds.

M'Coy Down to 184 For Bout With Pastor

Al McCoy, New England heavyweight champion, will breeze into the ring at the Boston Garden Monday night in top form for his fight with Bob Pastor, New York, 10-round feature of the Goodwin A. C. boxing show.

McCoy has been whittled down to a neat 184 pounds by some very arduous training work at Stillman's gym in New York. This means that McCoy will be faster than ever before in a local ring.

Sharp critics have pointed out in the past that McCoy's chief trouble was the fact that he toted too much weight.

McCoy packed on plenty for a spell, under the delusion that the bigger he got the better he'd be. He appeared in the ring for several engagements with about three times around his shoulders and stomach; and it didn't help a bit.

Reports are that it's a new McCoy that's being groomed for the most important bout of his career—with Pastor.

Pastor ranks with the six best heavyweights in the world. He's lost only two of 43 starts—to Champion Joe Louis and Natie Mann, both by 10-round decisions.

He lost three of the first five rounds in the Mann fight because of out-of-bounds hitting, according to the referee's score sheet.

He's never been knocked out and has been on the deck but twice.

This gives a fairly good idea of the job McCoy faces in Pastor, one of the most rugged heavyweights in the business today.

At the same time Pastor has been developed into a walk-in, belting fighter with a powerful right-hand punch with which he flayed Bob Nestell and Ray Impellitiere, ring giants, among others.

Yet the McCoy camp still insists the N. E. king will win by a knockout, and it's chiefly because McCoy is in condition.

He's ready to "shoot the works," hitting top speed from the opening bell.

Boston's first major league heavyweight fight in years looms as Boston's best fight in years as well.

Joe Lubin, All-America heavyweight champion, stablemate of Pastor, makes his professional debut in a four on the Goodwin card, fighting Mark Lavovitch.

Lubin was a sensation in his fight here with Frank Cihudinski.

Dante Yannetti and Joe Glasgow meet in the eight-round semifinal, a "grudge."

U. S. Horse Wins English Classic

King, Queen See Flares Triumph

ASCOT, Eng., June 16 (AP)—William Woodward's American-owned Flares, a five-year-old son of Gallant Fox, today won the historic Ascot gold cup race worth more than $37,500.

The King and Queen were in the crowd which saw Flares lead Lord Glanely's Buckleigh and W. Barnett's Senor across the finish line in that order. The race is over a course of 2½ miles.

An outsider in the betting, Flares rewarded his backers at 100 to 7. Buckleigh started at 100 to 8 and Senor at 8 to 1.

WINS BY NECK

Today's renewal was even more exciting than the great 1936 race when Woodward's Omaha was nosed out by Lord Stanley's filly, Quashed, in a heart-breaking finish. Flares won by only a neck from Buckleigh, which led Senor in turn by another neck.

The French-bred Victrix II, owned by the American, J. E. Widener, ran fourth in the field of ten.

CAME FROM BEHIND

Flares, a full brother of Omaha, made his bid in the last furlong after A. Gordon Smith's Toboggan had led for a mile and three-quarters. The Woodward colt, foaled in America, appeared to have more stamina in the home stretch and 100 yards from the finish line it merely was a question whether he would have enough time to get up.

Bobby Jones, veteran jockey, showed Flares the whip in the closing burst and the American horse stepped up the tempo to get home the winner by the narrow margin.

Woodward also started Boswell, but the stablemate of the winner failed to show anything. Both of Woodward's entries were among the also rans last year.

America gained another victory when Widener's American-bred brown colt, Unbreakable, captured the Waterford Stakes of a mile for three-year-olds.

Unbreakable, a son of Sickle-Blue Grass, defated A. de Rothschild's The Bittern and James Hanbury's Slip In.

America also came in for a share of honors in the six furlongs of the Cork and Orrery Stakes when Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's five-year-old Ambrose Light finished third.

Louis 11-5 Choice To Retain Crown

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—The professional gamblers, impressed by a number of things, have jumped their odds from 8-to-5 to a juicy 11-to-5 that Joe Louis will retain his heavyweight championship in his 15-round fight with Max Schmeling next Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium.

That is somewhat disconcerting to those of us who already are well out on the Schmeling limb, even though the odds-layers lately have been dead wrong more often than right.

The previous odds of 7-to-5 and 8-to-5 were no more than the customary "feeler" quotations offered in almost any champion's favor, but this 11-to-5 money means that Louis will enter the ring a pronounced choice of the wise boys, maybe as high as 3-to-1.

What caused the forming of the figures mostly was the fact that Louis finally opened his mouth the other day and said on his very own initiative that he intended to knock Schmeling out quickly, perhaps in two rounds.

"That's enough to suit me," said one of the big bookmakers. "All I wanted to know was how Louis really felt about it. They've finally got that boy mad. That's the one thing he needed."

It has been discovered too, that the rules of the New York State Athletic Commission now permit the use of about twice the amount of bandage and tape they did when Max and Joe fought two summers ago.

On that occasion, it will be recalled, there was a violent commotion in Louis' dressing room before the fight when Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's semi-manager, discovered that the Negro's dukes were encased in armor-piercing fashion. Louis was divested of about two pounds of "difference" before they entered the ring, and this was supposed to have robbed him of some of his shocking power.

Austen Lake Says

So he vill not pe so confident, eh?" (Business of laying his finger alongside of his nose.)

No! Choe certainly won't!

And maybe it would be better for Max if he were. For, on the last occasion, the combined pamperings of the white press and the hero worship of the black horde which choked his Lakewood, N. J., camp, contrived to make him believe his own legend.

He went into the ring that time thinking himself invincible and that he could glare down a rival by the sheer magnetism of his shoe-button eyes.

He had looked loggy, cocky and fenced with a high chinned disdain until Schmeling reached out of nowhere and caught him flush on the sweet spot.

No, he certainly won't be over confident again, Maxie.

One thing is noticeable: Except when asked direct questions, Max never volunteers a remark about Louis. He will talk aviation, hunting, architecture, botany, history—but in his leisure he dislikes fight conversation.

In this he differs from Max Baer, who before him was the last to train in Speculator for Louis.

The Negro's name was constantly on Baer's tongue, indicating the thing he dreaded most was uppermost in his mind. In his rubbing room forums, Baer offered a hundred glib reasons why and how he would lick Louis, a querulous note behind each flippancy in the tone of asking rather than telling.

But Schmeling dresses in the privacy of his cottage, sequesters himself from the press except at allotted times, trains by a clock and carries on no ringside banter.

He works with the dull, methodical effort of a butcher chopping up roundsteak for hamburger.—But whose hamburger?

I wonder.

Britain Aids U.S. Humane War Fight

LONDON, June 16—Great Britain, through Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, today proffered solid support for American attempts to win international agreement on humanization of warfare.

Chamberlain told Laborite Arthur Henderson in Commons that Britain was in "full agreement" with the sentiments expressed in recent speeches by Cordell Hull, American Secretary of State.

Chamberlain also told Commons the United States had intimated it was preparing to make definite proposals to secure world disarmament.

REVEALS U. S. PLAN

Asked by Henderson if Britain were willing to "join with the United States in making definite proposals with a view to securing a halt in the arms race," Chamberlain replied tersely:

"The United States government have suggested they are going to make an attempt."

The prime minister refused to elaborate on this brief statement.

Roosevelt Due at Salem In Morning

BULLETIN

President Roosevelt's special train will arrive at Salem between 8:30 and 8:45 a. m., tomorrow. Its only stop between Washington and Salem will be at Worcester, soon after 6 a. m., to change engines.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (INS) — While the 75th Congress went through the death throes of its final session President Roosevelt waited restlessly in the White House today.

The President had a most important engagement in Massachusetts, and the failure of Congress to adjourn last night already had forced him to revise h s arrangements to leave Washington.

The engagement was attendance at the wedding Saturday in Nahant, Mass., of his youngest son, John, to Miss Anne Lindsay Clark. The President will be there, Congress or no Congress, but he wants to get under way tonight so he may participate in some of the pre-nuptial gayety on Friday.

If the final gavel falls before dinner time the President will board a special train about 7 or 8 this evening and head for Salem, Mass., there boarding the White House yacht Potomac for a final run to Nahant.

State police will be asked, he said after testifying for half an hour before the "blue ribbon"
